McKINLEY And Hobart

Head the Republican Ticket on a Gold Standard Platform.

Senator Teller Makes a Speech and With Other Delegates Leaves the Convention.

The great convention is over. William McKinley, of Ohio, is the nominee for President, and Garret A. Hobart, of New Jersey, for Vice President. The platform is for the existing gold standard, and Senator Teller and twenty-two other delegates have marched out of the Republican party.

There were two reports of the committee on resolutions, the majority report on the financial question, which we print elsewhere, was adopted by a vote of 512 to 110. When the result was announced Mr. Frank Cannon, the youthful senator from Utah, advanced to the platform and with Senator Teller standing by his side, read in ringing tones and with many gestures the following protest:

"We hold that this convention has severed from the truth; that the triumph of such a recession would be the eventual destruction of our freedom and our civilization. To that end and the people will not knowingly follow any political party; and we choose to take our place in the ranks of the great mass of citizens who realize that the hour has come for justice. Did we deem this issue less important to humanity we would yield, since the associations fall our political lives have been entertained with the men and the measures of his party of past mighty achievements.

WITHDRAWAL FROM THE PARTY.

"Accepting the fiat of this convention as the present purpose of the party, we withdraw from this convention to return to our constituents the authority with which they invested us, believing that we have better discharged their trust by this action which restores to them authority unimpaired than by giving cowardly and insincere endorsement to the greatest wrong ever willfully attempted within the Republican party—once rescuer of the people, but now about to become their oppressor, unless providentially restrained by the votes of free men."

After this, and the wildest scenes, Senator Teller and his associates filed out of the hall.

After the adoption of the platform the chairman directed the call of states for nomination for the presidency. Chancery M. Dixon presented the names of Gov. Morton; Gen. Paraker presented the names of Wm. McKinley, and the convention went wild. The names of R. d. Allison and Quay were presented, and then the convention proceeded to ballot, and the result was: McKinley 661, Rood 81, Quay 61, Morton 58, Allison 35, Cameron 1. When the chair announced that McKinley had received 661 votes, words could not describe the scene. Delegates and spectators arose and cheered and waved flags and banners and the people of California; the band struck up "My Country 'Tis of Thee" and cheers and hurrahs ran the air.

There was not a single one of the 15,000 or 16,000 people in the great hall who did not do his or her best to swell the sounds of jubilee and to join in the grand popular demonstration in favor of the successful candidate. The scene was enthusiastic as the men seemed as if no one would be seated again, and as if orderly proceedings would never more be attempted. One young man on the platform waved on the point of the national banner a faced cocked hat such as the conqueror of Marengio is represented as wearing. This symbol of victory added, if possible, to the enthusiasm, and the noise was swelled by the booming or artillery outside.

After quiet had again been restored Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, on behalf of the friends of Mr. Reed, offered the motion to make the nomination of Mr. McKinley unanimous. Another wild scene followed his short speech. Gen. Henderson, of Iowa, seconded the motion on behalf of the adherents of Mr. Allison. Thomas C. Platt, on behalf of Mr. Morton's friends, also seconded the motion, and in doing so pledged the state of New York for a majority for the nominee. Gov. Hastings, of Pennsylvania, seconded it for the supporters of Mr. Quay.

The convention then proceeded to call the states for nominations for Vice President. Hobart, of New Jersey; Chas. Warren Lippitt, of Rhode Island; H. Clay Evans, of Tennessee; Jas. A. Walker, of Virginia, were put in nomination. Hobart was nominated with votes to spare, and the convention adjourned.

THE PLATFORM.

The following are the more salient features of the lengthy platform.

THE TAXES.

"We renew and emphasize our allegiance to the policy of protection as the bulwark of American industrial independence and the foundation of American development and prosperity. This true American policy taxes foreign products and encourages home industry; it puts the burden of revenue on foreign goods; it secures the American market for the American producer; it upholds the American standard of wages for the American workman; it puts the factory by the side of the farm, and makes the farmer less dependent on foreign demand and prices; it diffuses general thrift; and founds the strength of all on the strength of each. In its responsible application it is just, fair and impartial, equally opposed to foreign control and domestic monopoly, to sectional discrimination and individual favoritism.

"We denounce the present Democratic tariff as sectional, partisan, and one-sided, and disastrous to the treasury and destructive to business enterprise, and we demand such an equitable tariff on foreign imports which come into competition with American products as will not only furnish adequate revenue for the necessary expenses of the government but will protect American labor from degradation and the wage level of other lands. We are not pledged to any particular schedule. The question of rate is a practical question, to be governed by the conditions of the time and of production. The ruling and uncompromising principle is the protection and development of American labor and industry. The country wants a right settlement, and then it wants rest.

"The republican party renews its pledge for the protection of all American industries against foreign competition, and declares its faith that the supremacy of the United States among the nations is the result of such a policy. We believe in liberal reciprocity, and just retaliation, and demand the application of the golden rule of commerce to all future legislation affecting the tariff and foreign trade. We believe the repeal of the reciprocity arrangements negotiated by the last republican administration was a national calamity, and demand their renewal and extension on such terms as will equalize our trade with other nations and remove the restrictions that now obstruct the sale of American products in the ports of Europe, and secure new markets for the products of our farms, forests and factories.

RECIPROCITY.

"We believe that protection and reciprocity are twin measures of republican policy and go hand in hand. Democratic rule has ruthlessly struck down both, and both must be re-established. Protection for what we produce; free admission for the necessities of life which we do not produce; reciprocal agreements of mutual interest, which gain open markets for us in return for our open markets to others. Protection builds up domestic industry and trade, and secures our own market for ourselves—reciprocity builds up foreign trade and finds an outlet for our own surplus.

THE FINANCES.

"The republican party is unreservedly for sound money. "It caused the enactment of the law providing for the resumption of specie payments in 1879. "Since then every dollar has been as good as gold.

"We are unalterably opposed to every measure calculated to debase our currency or impair the credit of our country.

"We are, therefore, opposed to the free coinage of silver, except by international agreement with the leading commercial nations of the world which we pledge ourselves to promote, and until such agreements can be obtained the existing gold standard must be preserved.

"All our silver and paper currency must be maintained at parity with gold, and we favor all measures designed to maintain inviolably the obligations of the United States and our money, either coin or paper, at the present standard—the standard of the most enlightened nations of the earth.

employment, and they are entitled to the enactment of such laws, as are best calculated to secure the fulfillment of the pledges made to them in the dark days of the country's peril. We denounce the practice in the pension bureau, so recklessly and unjustly carried on by the present administration, of reducing pensions and arbitrarily dropping names from the rolls, as deserving the severest condemnation of the American people.

FOREIGN IMMIGRATION.

"For the protection of the equality of our American citizenship, and of the wages of our workmen, against the fatal competition of low priced labor, we demand that the immigration laws be thoroughly enforced, and so extended as to exclude from entrance to the United States those who can neither read nor write.

CIVIL SERVICE.

"The civil service law was placed on the statute by the republican party, which has always sustained it, and we renew our repeated declaration that it shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced and extended when ever practicable.

Senator Teller presented the minority report of the committee on resolutions, and this short document which was so overwhelmingly voted down was as follows:

"The republican party favors the use of both gold and silver as equal standard money, and pledges its power to secure the free, unrestricted and independent coinage of gold and silver at our mints at the ratio of sixteen parts of silver to one of gold."

Idle Convicts.

Frankfort, Ky., June 20.—The State is now feeding and clothing 600 convicts at Eddyville. What with it is not known. The Mason and Ford Company have formally thrown up their contract there and have turned over to the State the convicts they have clothed and fed. The change was made several days ago, but was so quietly done that it has not yet become generally known.

The question of how to settle with the company and when the latest suit against them is to be brought will be decided at an early meeting of the Sinking Fund Board. The abandonment of this contract leaves only the printing contract remaining of the several big contracts the State had when the new Republican administration came into power.

The present Commissioners are contract breakers, for the contracts are with Democrats, from away back. Just what the exact condition of the prison problem is now is more than a Philadelphia lawyer can intelligently state.

Walling Must Hang.

Covington, Ky., June 18.—The jury finds Walling guilty and fixes his punishment at death.

Walling has been ordered taken to the Covington jail immediately. Reports of the school census in one hundred counties show an increase of about 1 1/2 per cent. in the number of school age in Kentucky. It is not unlikely that the school per capita may be reduced to even less than $2.25. It is now $2.80.

TELLER'S GREAT SPEECH.

The Wonderful Appeal of Senator Teller for Silver.

Mr. Teller having presented to the Platform Committee of the St. Louis Convention a proposition for the free coinage of silver as a substitute for the financial plank proposed by the subcommittee of the whole committee, spoke in part as follows:

"MR. CHAIRMAN: The importance of this question must be my excuse for detaining the committee a few minutes. I have given this financial question the most careful attention that any man could give it. I have given it great study and the best thought of my mature years; I have been engaged all my life in a service which I think fits me to judge right and correctly, and to draw proper conclusions under such circumstances. I have formed my convictions of the importance and character of this controversy.

"My convictions are of such character that upon me they force conclusions which amount almost to verity. I admit that I may be wrong in every proposition touching this question that I may submit here today, but, as I have said, I have formed my own judgment, and have tried to reach an intelligent judgment on this financial question, and after such deliberation and thought I say here now that in my judgment this question is the greatest question that has been presented to the American people in a hundred years. Right or wrong I have convinced my judgment; and I have done that, too, from a partisan standpoint, and not because the State of Colorado produces silver, but after the most perfect investigation and

PAINTING RESEARCH.

"If I had only my judgment to depend upon I should be afraid to make such a statement to an intelligent committee like this, but I have back of me, and agreeing with me, and advocating bimetalism as against the gold standard, the intelligence of the world. Every political economist in Europe, with five or six exceptions, who are worthy to be named as political economists, is an open and pronounced bimetalist. There is no professor of political economy in any of the great European institutions that does not declare for bimetalism and condemn that which you have put in your platform and which you today mean to make the cardinal feature of the faith of the Republican party. This is the gold standard.

"The greatest teacher of New England, a man who commands more respect than any other teacher in this country, or in Europe, the only American whose text books have become the text books of European colleges, has declared that the question of international bimetalism is a question of civilization. Mr. Chairman I believe this, and believing this as I do I say that it is not the prosperity of today or tomorrow that depends upon it, but this is a question which concerns civilization and morality; that this concerns not the people of the United States alone, but the people of the entire world, and on the rightful solution of which their happiness and prosperity depend.

"Having thus formed my conclusions, after many years of public service and investigation, can I look any man in the face and tell him that I believe this and then give my vote for a candidate who stands on a platform pledged to support the gold standard? Would you not despise me if I did it? And what is more, should I not despise myself? If I am wrong, and of course I may be, the truth

WILL SOME DAY BE KNOWN.

If I am right, you are entering upon a course that will some day—and that, too, specially—bring this country great disaster and dire distress. If a partial acceptance of this financial system has brought this country to the condition that it is now in, what shall be its condition when you have crystallized in the laws this declaration that you are putting in this platform, that gold and gold only shall be the standard money of this land.

"I do not intend to debate this question. I am speaking now in explanation of my conduct when I shall declare publicly, as I shall if this platform is adopted, that I can take no further part in this convention, and can no longer act with the Republican party.

"MR. CHAIRMAN, it is not a small thing for a man to break from his political associations. No man would be justified in doing this except upon principle. No man would be justified in so doing because of dissatisfaction with mere methods of candidates; but when you adopt a principle and ask me to sustain it, make it one of the cardinal tenets of a great political organization, that I believe to be destructive to the interests of the whole country, then common honesty calls for a protest from me."

"I have been in this party since its organization. I doubt whether today in this body, or in the convention, there is a man who has served more years in it than I, and I deny that there is any man who has served it with more devotion and with more enthusiasm than I have. When the Democratic party, to which I belonged and in which I was reared because the party of oppression and the advocate of a system of servitude that was destructive, in my opinion, not only to the black man but to the white man as well, I walked out of that party and into the new party, which did not then even have a name—a party that was weak and small, condemned and despised—but out of which came this Republican party.

But I did not then break the associations of more than forty years. I was then a young man, full of enthusiasm and hope; my life was before me; now it is behind me.

"As a member of the Republican party I have shared in its triumphs as I have shared in its few defeats. I took part by voice and vote in its first campaign, and in every campaign since that it has made, either in the States west or east of the Rocky Mountains. I have been an active participant. I was one of the first men in the Rocky Mountains who a vocalized the Republican doctrine of protection, and I have advocated it in every campaign that the party has made. I believe in it now, but I do not believe you can have adequate protection and the gold standard. The gold standard means low wages and low prices for products, and that is verified by the conditions in every country of the world where it has been tried. I believe the adoption of the gold standard will in the end be destructive of the great interests for which the Republican party has professedly stood during all the years of its existence.

"MR. CHAIRMAN, I shall break from the party of my youth and the party of my choice, and the party that has given me honors as few men have been given honors, with a heart feeling as though I were going to my grave, as though I were burying my best friend, and nothing but the supreme conviction of the danger of the maintenance of this gold standard could induce me to make the sacrifice; but the conviction is upon me that it is a duty, not to my people alone, not to the people of Colorado alone, but a duty which I owe to you and to the whole world as well that impels me to this step.

"I came to this convention reluctantly, fearing that this would be the result of your deliberations and that I should have to go away, having performed what is to me one of the most agreeable actions of my whole life. And yet I repeat I would despise myself believing as I do in the supreme importance of this question if I failed to make any sacrifice that this cause demands, if I failed because of the fear of taunts that will surely come to me when I shall have done my duty as my judgment tells me to do it. I am going to fight for this principle, but I can no longer fight for it in the Republican ranks with hopes of success. I had hoped that the party that had done so much for the human race and of whose future so much was hoped and expected would come to the right view upon this question; and I still have a lingering hope that some day this party will reach a condition when it will not take its declarations from Wall Street or Lombard Street, but from the honest sentiment of the great heart of the American people.

"I did not intend to detain you except with so long in public life and in private life in the paramount importance of the principles for which I have contended so long in public life and in private life. It is my earnest belief that no question is of more vital importance to the people of the United States or deserving of more careful attention than the financial question which is now presented for your solution."

WATTERSON

Astounds the British by His Very Sturdy Defense of America.

London, June 17.—The Chronicle today prints an interview with Mr. Henry Watterson, of Louisville, for whose sentiments it practically apologizes to its readers in every paragraph.

"If there exists in England an impression that the Southern States in the American union are not a unit with the national principle, it is a serious error," said Mr. Watterson. "Nowhere was the President's Venezuelan message received with greater enthusiasm than in the South. The people of the South would welcome a foreign war because it would give them an opportunity to show their loyalty to the Union. They are a warlike race and there are great many things which make them restive. They are not, as you put it,

STOOLING FOR A FIGHT.

But they are bent on expanding our foreign policy and are ready to fight at the drop of a hat. Strictly speaking," he put in, "there is no anti-English feeling in the United States. On the contrary, there is a generally friendly feeling. We are Republicans, however, whereas you are Monarchists. We detest your social system thoroughly. Shoddy Americans who come over here in hot pursuit of social recognition, we regard with disgust as you regard with disdain. There can be no affinity between aristocracy and democracy. In many ways we are commercial rivals. If we ever get rid of our absurd tariff restrictions we can meet and beat England in all neutral markets, and recover from her those markets that geographically belong to us.

WILL ENFORCE RESPECT.

"The Monroe doctrine, as it is called," said Mr. Watterson, "has come to stay. Strangely and reaffirmed by its modern interpretation, it is an assertion of national aspiration. We are more than a match for any two nations on the globe. We are a vast imperial republic and we mean to be respected and felt among nations. We mean absolutely to control and dominate in American affairs. We do not want Canada, but Mexico and Central and South America are under our wing and our word shall be law.

"I look for no serious consequences," he went on, "in the Venezuelan matter. A war between England and the United States would be the disintegration of the British Empire and no greater evil could happen to mankind."

The Press is authorized to announce

Judge of the Court of Appeals, vice Judge J. R. Grace, deceased, for the First Appellate District, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Election November 1896.

The Press is authorized to announce
W. S. BISHOP,

Judge of the Court of Appeals, vice Judge J. R. Grace, deceased, for the First Appellate District, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Election
November 1896.

FOR CONGRESS.
We are authorized to announce
W. J. STONE

a candidate for Congress in the First Congressional District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Election November 1896.

The gold standard Democrats still persist in hiding behind the catch phrase, "sound money."

As can best be determined now the bimetallists will have 572 votes in the Chicago Convention to 372 for the gold standard.

If every voter waited for the party to act before he took a position on a political question, who would be left to make a platform?

A decision of the Court of Appeals has settled the question of electing an Appellate Court Judge in this district in November. The court holds that the vacancy must be filled at the approaching election.

Maine Democrats declared for the gold standard by a vote of 91 to 101.
California declares for free silver and Florida by a vote of 175 to 171. He feared a free silver measure, but refused to instruct the delegates, resolving that all such questions are properly referred to the National Democratic Convention.

The Paducah News of Monday contained the official announcement of Hon. John K. Hendrick for Congress.
In commenting on the announcement the News says: "He is a Democrat who never actuated the ticket, and who stands prepared to fight squarely upon the platform of the party, which he has so unflinchingly stood by in all these years."

The situation in the Illinois, Indiana and Ohio Democratic State conventions very plainly show that the Democrats of those states are almost unanimous for bimetallism. In Ohio less than 100 of the 700 delegates are for the gold standard; in Indiana 1517 of the 1714 delegates are for silver; in Illinois more than 900 of the 1000 delegates are for silver.

Hon. Benj. H. Brewster, who was Secretary of the Treasury during the second term of President Grant, died at his home in New York Monday.
He was born in Elkton, Ky., in 1832 and began the practice of the law in Hopkinsville. He served as State Senator, United States District Attorney, and won distinction in all the positions he occupied.

Mr. Cleveland has issued an appeal to Democrats to be wise at Chicago.
He should remember that actions speak louder than words. His own actions have done more to disrupt and destroy the party than all Republicanism united; but at the same time the net result has made an opportunity for the party's success in November.

The Louisville Post is now busily engaged in trying to show that the bolt at St. Louis amounts to nothing comparatively. Twenty-three delegates and the immediate section they represent may not have the proportions of a cyclone, but they constitute a storm center and around them will rally thousands of voters all over the West. Twenty-three is a nucleus about which a powerful army may gather. Besides, the manner of their withdrawal, the party from which they retire, with all of its history that fires a Republican heart, its brilliant achievements on political battle fields of the past, the immense patronage it has and may yet control, illustrates the story and adorns the tale that is being daily told, that old political ties now sit lightly as a feather upon many who have been bound by them without hesitancy heretofore. It is illustrative of the fact that thousands of people have concluded to live in the present, and to bury the ghosts of the past that have haunted the political fights of two decades. While in both of the old parties the tens of thousands may close their eyes to the pictures of the present, and fondly cherish tender memories of the bygones, the thousands will let "The dead past bury its dead," and concern themselves about the living issues of the present. The bolt at St. Louis is an ocular demonstration of the yet unrecalled determination in the hearts and minds of people from Dan to Beersheba. The St.
Louis panorama illustrates what hundreds of individuals will do on their hook in November. The bolting is not likely to be confined to one party either; there is going to be a readjustment all around. Goldbugs in the east will walk out of the Democratic party, and silver Republicans of the West will step out of the Republican party.

One of the chief boasts of the Democratic party is and has always been that it is a party of the people, for the people and by the people. The efforts Messrs. Cleveland, Whitney & Co. are making to turn aside the verdict of an overwhelming majority of the rank and file of the people of the party clearly indicates that they are not Democratic on other points besides that of the currency. If the intelligence and patriotism of the country is confined to a few eastern millionaires, and if the majority must how like subjects to their sovereign will, what is the use of having conventions? Why not do away with the expense and worry of conventions by consulting these oracles and accepting their edicts with the faith of those who believe that the king can do no wrong? Clearly a majority has expressed itself for the rehabilitation of silver. The figures show it. An attempt at this stage by threats or sophistry to undo the matter is pretty strong evidence that these oriental nobles no longer believe that a majority should rule in this country; they no longer believe that the people are capable of governing themselves.

Teller announces that he will support Bland if the Democrats nominate him. Bland is not a millionaire; he may not be the polished, suave, pretentious politician that some of the gentlemen who aspire to Presidential honors claim to be, but he possesses the sturdy honesty that characterizes our best citizenship; he is of that type of rugged, sterling manhood that we find in American song and story; and his nomination would appeal to the great middle classes, the bone and sinew of the country—who have not found the best of friends in some of the Gannalich at whose feet they have sat. The concrete wisdom of the convention may decree otherwise, but "silver Dick" would be a platform within himself.

Cleveland and Carlisle have gone fishing. They are to be congratulated in the wisdom displayed in the selection of their occupation at this particular time.

To advocate international coinage is simply a concession that the "existing gold standard" is not satisfactory. If the coinage laws of this country, as they now exist, are the most conducive to national and individual prosperity, why the necessity of any change whatever, either national or international.

Arranging for the Convention.

Louisville, June 18.—Col. T. H.
Sherley just returned from Chicago to attend a meeting of the National Democratic Committee stated today that arrangements had been made with the owners of the coliseum for the use of it as the meeting place of the convention. The room will be 420 feet long by 320 feet wide and will seat 15,000 people all facing the platform. Col. Sherley has been made Chairman of the Decoration Committee and arrangement of seats.
He hopes to have the hall ready in two weeks. The hall occupies the same ground the "Wild West" show did during the World's Fair.

The Debate at Cave-in-Rock.

It was my happy privilege to attend this debate which commenced the 11th of this month and continued six days. The proposition of discussion was: "The Church with which I stand identified is Apostolic in Origin, Doctrine and Practice." Eld. J. N. Hall, of Fulton, Ky., for affirmative for first three days; Eld. A. J. Minton, of Bell, Tenn., for the disciples denied, the last three days Minton affirmed and Hall denied.

As I did not take notes it would be impossible for me to give anything like a synopsis of this discussion. It is fair, however, for me to say that each of these disputants were able in the presentation of their views. Eld. Minton made a creditable light from his standpoint and seemed to give general satisfaction to his brethren.

Bro. Hall was at his best, and made a masterly defense of Baptist principles to the entire satisfaction of all his brethren, and to the congratulation of the faith of saints at that place.

The Baptist cause here has been weak, but the two discussions by Bro. Hall, one in January and this one, have made many friends for the Baptists, as a result the first friends have gathered to them and they have been enabled to erect and have near completion a neat house of worship.
So far ascertain the people the people were general in their appreciation of Eld. Hall's presentation of the truth. Both of the disputants were courteous and gentlemanly in their deportment to the end of the discussion. The moderators had nothing to do save keep the time and make announcements.

The discussion was well attended from start to finish. Numbers of preachers, representing both sides were present and entertained the people at night and on Sunday with their preaching.

The simple manner with which the visitors were entertained was highly commendable to any community.
The attention given by the audience all through was remarkable.

A competent stenographer was employed to take this debate, which will be put in book form in the near future.

T. C. C.
Dr. Isaac Holloway, a prominent citizen of Lamasco, in Lyon county, died under circumstances strangely indicating suicide.

DISASTER IN JAPAN.

Loss of a Thousand Lives Caused by an Earthquake and Tidal Wave.

Whole Town of Kumai Swept Into the Raging Sea.

Yokohama, June 17.—News of a terrible disaster, involving the loss of over one thousand lives, has reached here from the island of Yesso, which contains the northern provinces of Japan.

All sections of the island seem to have been more or less shaken. The subterranean disturbance lasted about twenty hours, and during that period the utmost terror prevailed.

The ground rumblings are described as resembling the roarings of distant cannon. Shock followed shock in an almost uninterrupted succession, for about every eight minutes. In all, it is estimated there were 150 shocks, of more or less force.

It is impossible to obtain, for the present, accurate details of the disaster, as communication between the mainland of Japan (Island of Honshu) and Yesso, from which the former is separated by the Strait of Tsugaru is said to be interrupted, or more probably in the hands of the authorities.
The whole town of Kumai, however, is reported to have been destroyed.
The awful series of earthquake shocks were accompanied by a tidal wave from the sea, which practically wiped out the town of Kumai, which is situated towards the Japan sea, on a narrow neck of land, separating it from Volcano Bay on the Pacific side of the island.

The island of Yesso has in the past had several similar visitations, and contains a number of active and extinguished volcanoes. Rumor has it that the number of lives lost and amount of damage done is far in excess of the figures contained in the brief official dispatch. A full official report of this great calamity has been asked for and is expected shortly. It is feared that great disaster to shipping must also have resulted from the great tidal wave.

Washington, June 22.—The first official report that has reached Washington of the great Japanese earthquake and tidal wave came today to the State Department from Mr. Herold, Secretary of our Legation at Okio, in the following brief cablegram, which, however, makes the calamity out to be much worse than heretofore reported.

"Deaths caused by the tidal wave estimated at over 30,000 in reports up to date. No mortality among Americans."

Kentucky Battle.

London, Depot, Ky., June 23.—
On Clover Fork, in Harlan county, six miles above Harlan a riot house, one of the bloodiest battles of modern years took place yesterday, in which John Pace, Irvin Corbett and Harrison Corbett on one side and George Dean, Wm Stewart and Dave Elder-edge on the other. Dean and Elder-edge were killed. The players have all been arrested and are in jail. The fight was the result of an old feud of long standing.

NEIGHBORHOOD GOSSIP.

SALEM.

Some of the farmers say the rains this season have washed the farms more than they have in the past ten years.

The farmers will look for threshers in a few days; some fear around Salem have thrashed; there is about a half crop.

The minstrel show proved a complete failure here Saturday night. The people of Salem showed by their actions Saturday night that they had rather go to church than attend a minstrel show.

There will be a lecture delivered here next Monday night by the Rev.
Reed Lamb, on Bunyan's Pilgrimage Progress. This lecture is to be illustrated and a small admission fee will be charged for religious purposes.

Some of our citizens are acquainted with Rev. Lamb, and speak of him in the highest terms. Come out and hear him.

Mr. Charlie Farris, of Memphis, is visiting his brother at this place.
Misses Mary Cox and Minnie Love spent a few days in Tolu this week.
Mr. Isaac Under, Mrs. Sallie Wool-ridge, and Miss Mary Cox went to Fremont Sunday.

Miss Clara Morris, of Louisville, is the guest of Miss Pearl Lathie here this week.

Mrs. Port Morris, of Clinton, and her mother of Tolu are visiting their friends here.

Bro. Yarbrough delivered a lecture at the church Sunday evening upon Sunday school work.

He confined his talk mainly to the boys and would have them to attend Sunday school regularly. He gave the boys great encouragement.

Mrs. M. D. Roney and son, of Evansville, are visiting friends and relatives here.

Come out and get a new Sunday school book for the new quarter Sunday.

There was a colored people's dance Saturday night about a mile from here; some trouble came up and put an end to the dance. Some of the boys had been over at Goleonda and got them some red eye.

It seems as if those boys went to the dance to hurt some one, for they were all armed. One of the gang had two guns. Some two years ago some of the colored people had trouble and one of them was hit in the head with a rock, and it is supposed this old feud was renewed. Clifton Pippin, who had nothing to do with the trouble, was trying to make peace, and in doing so was shot in the abdominal cavity. From the wound he lived until Monday about noon and died. He was considered by all who knew him as one of the most peaceable colored men in Salem.

Sunday four negroes were arrested and taken to the Smithland jail.
Lem Hodge had brought his girl up to the dance from Goleonda; he was arrested Sunday and taken off to jail. leaving his girl weeping bitterly. If she waits until Lem takes her back to Goleonda it will be perhaps a few years before she gets back.

BELLS MINES.

Our Christian Endeavor met according to appointment last Saturday at 2 o'clock p. m., and we went through the programme, reading and talking on our verse of Scripture.
Rev. Womack was present and took part with us. After the Endeavor we went to the Newcom Ford on Tradewater river to a baptizing; Bro.
Womack baptized Bros. Allen Shaw and Geo. Aaron. After the baptizing

Bro. Womack preached an excellent sermon.

Sabbath was Children's day, we never saw as many people come to our church before to hear what the little folks had to say, and everybody was well pleased. Rev. G. L. Woodruff, our pastor, gave a good talk and called all of the children and the fathers and mothers in the altar to offer prayer for the children, the prayer was led by sister Elma Hinn and concluded by Bro. John Quertermous.

The choir we have is one of the best in the county.

Bro. Bennett preached the funeral of Mrs. Fannie Sheely last Sunday.
Mrs. Sula Chancellor is spending the week with her sister, Mrs. T. J.
Black.

The farmers in this neighborhood are through cutting wheat, and they say there will not be more than a half crop.

FREMONT.

The C. P. church was crowded last Sunday to its utmost capacity, with people from the surrounding towns and neighborhoods, who came to witness the Children's Day exercises that proved to be quite entertaining. A special feature of the programme was a solo by Mrs. George Howard, of Atlanta, Georgia, who is visiting here.

Rev. McClosky, of Lebanon Tenn. preached at the C. P. church Sunday night.

Mrs. Gus Bentley and niece, Miss Isabel Howerton, have been visiting relatives in Ohio county for the past two or three weeks.

day.

A CARD OF THANKS.

I take this method of expressing my heartfelt thanks to the many friends and neighbors who were so kind and attentive to my mother during her recent severe illness (which resulted in death). They did everything in their power to render her as comfortable as possible, anticipating her every wish; and while life shall last they will all occupy a cherished place in my memory. The blessings of heaven will surely be poured out in rich abundantly upon them in this life, and in the great beyond, where parting is no more. Respectfully,

E. R. Martin.

F. W. Brice of Hampton, was in town a day or two last week.

a severe illness.

E. R. Settle, of the Caldwell county News, was in town last Friday, looking after the interest of his paper and met with fair success.

Solomon said, "There is nothing new under the sun," and he struck it about right. This seems to be an age of imitators instead of originators, which is all right as long as they imitate the great and good.

A Wedding Party.

Last evening Messrs. E. C. Moore and Sam Guenheim, and Misses Eva Williams and Nannie Nunn left for Memphis, Tenn. This morning at 8 o'clock, in the parlors of the Peabody Hotel, at Memphis, Mr. Moore and Miss Williams will be united in marriage. Mr. Moore and his bride will go to Hot Springs for a week's stay, after which they will go to Galveston, Texas, thence to Mr. Moore's brother's in Arkansas, returning home in about four weeks.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. H. B. Williams, a prominent farmer who lives near Marion, she is noted for personal beauty, charming manners and sterling worth as a woman. She graduated from a Bowling Green college two years ago.

Mr. Moore is one of the best known young men in the county. He was in the mercantile business at Mattoon for a number of years, where he did perhaps more business than any other house in the county. He is a fine business man, an enterprising citizen, and his honesty and genial disposition has given him a wide acquaintance and an extensive circle of friends, all of whom wish him and his handsome bride long, happy and useful lives.

Masons Going to Sue.

Frankfort, June 18.—The Masonic Fraternity of the State, held to be exempt from taxation under a recent decision of the Court of Appeals, which terms them as charitable and benevolent institutions, are filing petitions through the Sheriffs to the Auditor of Public Accounts to recover the sums they have paid since the revenue law of 1893 went into effect. Sheriff Armstrong filed a petition through attorney Crowell this morning, and Auditor Stone has the matter under advisement. Louisville lodges will recover greater sums than any other institution in the State, if the petitions are granted.

Billy Dyeus, of Dycusburg, was one of the biggest men in town Monday; he was not the oldest, however. He is only nine years old, but he tips the beam at 101 pounds. He fills an average chair as full as an ordinary man; he measures just 33 inches around the waist, and it is fourteen big inches around the calf of his leg. Billy is a son of Mr. Frank Dyeus, the tobacco merchant, and a grandson of the late Capt. Hodge Brown, once a popular steamboat man on the Cumberland. Capt. Brown was at the time of his death, several years ago, the largest man in Southern Kentucky.

CIRCUIT COURT

The Grand Jury Charged and the Wheels of Justice Begun to Grind.

Two Acquittals Tuesday; the Norris and Fritts Case on Trial.

Circuit court convened Monday with Judge Pratt on the bench. The Judge delivered an exhaustive charge to the grand jury, covering in a forcible and entertaining way all the laws that are likely to be violated in this country. He was exceedingly plain touching concealed weapons, disturbing religious worship, the violation of local option law and white capping. Without naming it, he referred to the Dr. Marble case. He said that the jury must not be governed by local influences, that all parties must be treated alike, and the jury must be governed solely by the law and the evidence. He said that if a physician by neglect, the careless use of a knife, or through the want of skill caused death, it was involuntary manslaughter.

Hugh Barnett vs. T. T. Barnett, dismissed by agreement of parties. P. E. Howlett vs. R. L. Finuary, on motion of plaintiff stricken from docket.

Whitecaps in Livingston.

The Smithland News tells of a case of white capping near Carville. According to the published account the white cappers visited Miss Lizzie Mery, of Livingston county. Seven masked men went to her place of abode—at the house of her brother in law—covered the occupants with pistols, including the man of the house, dragged the young lady from her bed and forced her out into the road nearby, where they inflicted upon her a very severe whipping. All the men were in disguise, yet the girl and her brother in law thought they recognized and knew the offenders. Affidavits were sworn out charging several respectable young men of that vicinity with being participants of the unlawful act. They were arrested and discharged, but one of them, William Thompson, has brought suit for malicious prosecution, and attached $500 worth of the woman's property. The case will be fought out in the courts.

Silver and Oil.

The excitement over the discovery of silver near Grand Rivers has not abated by any means. The discoverer is busily engaged in blasting and opening the mine to secure specimens. It is said that he has forwarded specimens of the ore to Washington and that it has been pronounced of a rich quality. Several capitalists, it is reported, have become interested in the discovery and will work the mine if it proves to be as rich in deposits as now believed.

Enos L. Moore, of Grand Rivers, who has for some months been boring for oil at the Glenwood Landing, "Big Horse Ford," on Cumberland river, is now confident of striking a rich flow of oil. There is every indication of a regular gusher being discovered. The work has been pushed to a depth of 1,166 feet, with every encouragement of success.—Paducah News.

Isaac L. Wheeler Dead.

Sunday morning Mr. Isaac L. Wheeler died at his home three miles east of Marion, after a week's illness with flux.

Mr. Wheeler was one of the county's best citizens, and no man who came in contact with him failed to recognize that he was a part of the noblest work of God—an honest man.

He was well known throughout the county, and wherever known his sturdy qualities as a man and citizen were recognized.

For a number of years he has been one of the land possessors, and in all capacities he has served his day and generation well.

He is the father of a large family of children, among whom is our popular county superintendent.

Fought to a Finish.

Blackford, Ky., June 22.—Today our popular city judge, Carl Henderson, and Jno. Thompson engaged in a quarrel, which resulted in a fist fight. For thirty minutes the belligerents pounded each other; nobody interfered, and at the end of half an hour, both were completely exhausted and they mutually agreed to cease hostilities. It was a draw for want of strength to continue to a satisfactory termination.

Sent to the Asylum.

Saturday Dick Drake, of the northern part of the county, was brought to town and tried for lunacy. The jury was not long in coming to the conclusion that he was of unsound mind. He was sent to the Hopkinsville asylum. He was wild and at times dangerous, and had to be tied. He is about 35 years old and has a wife and two children.

County S. S. Convention.

The Eighteenth Annual Sunday School Convention of Crittenden county will be held at Piney Fork on Thursday, July 9, 1896. All the Sunday Schools in the county are solicited to attend the convention organized as classes, or representative delegates.

District Conference.

The District Conference of Princeton District Methodist Church South was held at Princeton Friday and Saturday. The Conference was presided over by Bishop Duncan, one of the greatest men of his church. He is a fine presiding officer and his thorough work as such was admired by the members of the Conference. His preaching charmed the people, and "charm" is hardly the word to use in connection with his sermons, for a stronger, deeper meaning word attaches to his discourses. He moves his hearers and puts to work the best and deepest thinking faculties of the mind, and arouses the soul to a keen appreciation of its relation to the Master.

One of his most forceful and telling addresses to the Conference was upon the fleeing of men to preach. He said that it was too frequently the case that where men were failures in other occupations, they concluded that they were called to preach, and would rush headlong into places where angels might fear to tread. He said that he had no right to doubt the honesty or sincerity of a man's convictions about his being called to preach, but that the powers that be in the church had a right to consider the man and his surroundings and to pass upon the question as to whether the man had been influenced by the Spirit of God in arriving at his convictions. He plead for caution along this line, and impressed the Conference with the gravity of its duty in this respect.

Marion was chosen as the place for holding the next District Conference. Messrs. J. A. Akin, Jep C. Johnson, H. C. Cobb and J. W. Guess were chosen delegates to the annual conference, with Dr. Bacon, of Cadiz, and R. C. Walker of Marion as alternates.

May Buy the O. V.

L. T. Moore, consulting engineer of the Illinois Central railroad, made a trip over the Ohio Valley railroad last week, in a special car, making an examination of the roadbed, side tracks, switches, depots, etc., and it is conjectured that the trip was made with a view of becoming a purchaser of the O. V.

It is known that the C. O. & S. W. at one time wanted the O. V. and did control it for a brief period, and for that reason it is thought the Illinois Central to become the owner of the C. O. and S. W. will possibly or probably attempt the purchase of the Ohio Valley.

I want a few more good cash customers; I have a bargain for you. M. H. Weldon.

The Braswell Case.

The end of the noted law suit, involving $50,000 reached a conclusion in the Court of Appeals a few days ago. The suit involved the estate of the late N. T. Braswell, of Eddyville, who was one of the richest citizens of Lyon county. He died several years ago, leaving no will. His heirs were the children of Mrs. S. N. Leonard, who was a daughter, and the children of Chas. Braswell, a son. Mr. Leonard, for his children, brought suit to prevent the heirs of Chas. Braswell from participating in the estate, alleging the following:

Chas. Braswell, it was alleged, was married under an assumed name in Memphis, deserting his wife about a year later, and while his first wife was living, and from whom he had not been divorced, Mr. Braswell was married in Illinois. As a result of this union two children were born, Tilford Braswell, of Eddyville, and Mrs. Mattie Scott, of Paducah. The contention of Mr. Leonard was that the heirs of Charles Braswell were not legitimate.

The lower court decided against Mr. Leonard and awarded to the Braswells their share of the property. This was the last case decided by Judge Grace before his elevation to the Appellate bench. This case was affirmed by the Court of Appeals, and the estate will be divided instead of all going to the Leonards.

The case was warmly contested in both the Circuit and Appellate court. Messrs. James & James, of Marion, were in the case, and Mr. L. H. James made the argument before the court of Appeals for the Tilford Braswell heirs, and Judge Holt made the argument for the Leonards. The decision is a victory for Mr. James, and he is naturally very proud of it.

Notice.

THE SWINE PLAGUE.

(Press Bulletin No. 8, Arizona Experiment Station.)

Swine plague is a contagious and infectious disease of the hog, caused by minute bacterial forms frequently found present in the air passages of swine, and sometimes of other domestic animals. They are, however, except under certain conditions of environment, in a state comparatively harmless to the animals. But when the proper external and internal conditions combine the bacteria multiply rapidly and produce a virulent form of disease, which is contagious and communicates fatally in a majority of cases. The swine plague germ is a small oval, non-motile bacterium, easily distinguished under the microscope from the hog cholera bacterium, the latter being larger, rod-like and possessing flagella.

Swine plague may be produced in a herd of hogs by inclement weather and unwholesome food, or other causes producing an unhealthy, weakened or unthrifty condition. The most noticeable symptoms characterizing this disease are: A tendency to lie upon the belly in some secluded place, refusing to eat, or eating but little, causing the animal to look gaunt; when aroused it will usually give one or two dry coughs, hang its head and arch its back as if in pain, the eyes will water in the early stages, but later the secretion becomes yellowish, thick, accumulating in the corners and frequently gumming the eyes shut. Sometimes the skin of the abdomen, under surface of the neck, and inner surface of the legs become congested and reddish in color. An eruption sometimes occurs under the body, most frequently upon those parts where the congestion shows. Scabs form over the small eruptive spots, which heal, and when the scabs fall leave bare spots upon the skin. The pig walks with an irregular, and tottering gait; the animal usually has diarrhea, which frequently becomes very loosed towards the last. There is usually shivering and fever, the temperature rising to 106 degrees or 107 degrees Fahrenheit. In one case I saw it as high as 108.4 degrees.

Once established in a herd, swine plague spreads rapidly, especially if the pigs sleep together, and are permitted to pile up in the shed or under a shelter, as the disease is communicated almost entirely by inhalation. Under the above mentioned conditions the well pigs breathe the infection exhaled by the sick ones and thus catch the disease. The disease germs may be carried some distance in the air, and upon the clothing of man, fur of animals and plumage of birds. Where hogs abound they are undoubtedly a prolific cause of spreading the disease, especially if the affected swine are permitted to die and be devoured by them. Rabbits and dogs are also a source of danger in spreading it, and men passing from herds of diseased swine frequently take with them enough germs to cause an outbreak in a well herd.

When in any locality an outbreak occurs, of swine plague or any disease which may be expected of being swine plague, or a contagious disease of any kind, every precaution should be taken to prevent its spread. No one should be permitted to pass from a farm having the disease upon it to one where there are swine, and no disease among them, without first disinfecting. Dogs should not be permitted to run at large, every pig or hog, young or old, should be killed as soon as it shows symptoms of having the disease, and the carcass should be buried, or at least deeply buried. All swine should be removed at once from the pasture in which diseased animals are found and kept from coming with them. Provision should be made, when possible, for removing the sick hogs to another fresh pasture if any sick ones should be found to remain among them, and the moving process repeated if necessary.

The regimen should receive attention. Wholesome food and good water should be provided for the well and sick hogs. A few drops—about eight to twelve drops per animal—of carbolic acid in the water each day is found beneficial as a preventive, and also in treating sick animals. The following mixture, recommended by Dr. Salmon, of the Bureau of Animal Industry, has been found beneficial in many cases, but no cure is known. One part of wood charcoal; one part sulphur; two parts sodium chloride; (common salt); two parts sodium bicarbonate; two parts sodium hyposulphate; one part sodium sulphate; one part antimony sulphide. These ingredients should be well pulverized and then thoroughly mixed. The dose is one tablespoonful for each 200 lbs. of weight of hog once a day. Those weighing less should receive smaller doses in the same ratio as the reduction in weight. It is best fed by mixing with bran, middlings or some other soft food. After having been induced to eat it once, hogs will usually return to it with a relish. It must not be understood that this is a specific for swine plague, though there are many cases on record where its use apparently cured the disease. It has been of greater value, perhaps, as a preventive, and when it is so used the disease may be somewhat reduced in quantity.

ARE YOU

BANKRUPT in health, constitution undermined by extravagance in eating, by disregarding the laws of nature, or physical capital all gone, if so, NEVER DESPAIR

Tutt's Liver Pills will cure you. For sick biliousness, dyspepsia, sour stomach, malaria, torpid liver, constipation, biliousness and all kindred diseases.

Tutt's Liver Pills an absolute cure.

During the time the disease is found upon the place all sleeping quarters, breeding places, feed lots and other places where the swine congregate should be thoroughly disinfected every few days. This is best done by sprinkling well with air slack lime or a five per cent solution of crude carbolic acid, or with some other germicide. No stagnant water should be permitted in the pasture or feeding lot, and the discharge of lime or carbolic acid should be used liberally about the water hole or water trough. All litter or bedding should be frequently removed and burned. In irrigated regions waste water should not be permitted to pass from the pasture of infected swine to carry the disease to other herds, and after the disease subsides the pasture should be thoroughly dried to kill stray germs which may be lurking among the vegetation.

The swine plague bacterium is a comparatively delicate organism and may be destroyed by a proper exposure of the above mentioned regulations. There are circumstances under which it would be impossible to observe the requirements to dry out the pasture and pens. If in these cases they could be thoroughly flooded the germ would be killed, as they drown quite easily.

It must be remembered that the disease does not always attack a herd with the same severity. Some outbreaks are comparatively mild, and none but the weak hogs and little pigs succumb, and the percentage of mortality among these may at times be small; whereas in other outbreaks the mortality reaches 90 per cent, or more, and old hogs are taken off with the little ones. The condition of the animals also has much to do with the mortality. Swine plague may be expected to carry off a greater per cent. of the unthrifty animals than of those well and hearty. I have found also that in herds where the constitutions of the swine were much weakened by close breeding the mortality is much greater than where the herd is kept thrifty by outcrossing.

In the Mississippi basin and some other localities hog cholera is associated with swine plague. Although this resembles swine plague in a great many respects, and the treatment for the two diseases is the same in every essential particular, in the matter of ridding a place of hog cholera there is much difference. The hog cholera bacterium is much harder than that of swine plague, and it will live and multiply in stagnant water and moist soil and litter, thus making it a very difficult matter to completely eradicate the disease from a place upon which it has once appeared. But with care a few months during the hot weather of the summer will suffice to clear a place of swine plague.

To Make Good Butter.

A correspondent of the Jersey Bulletin lays down eight rules for the making of A No 1 butter. They are:

1. Good Jersey cows to secure rich, clean, healthy milk. If possible, feed cows in rich old pastures, free from weeds, preferably on uplands.

2. Milk the cows in a clean, well ventilated stable, free from all atmospheric taints.

3. Setting the milk to cream and the cream to open in a clean and well ventilated room, which may be kept constantly at low and even temperature.

4. Scrupulous cleanliness and regular temperature in the churning.

5. Stopping the churn when the butter comes to the size of wheat grains, and freeing it of buttermilk while in this stage, taking care not to break the grain in working.

6. While it is in the granular stage incorporate the salt evenly and thoroughly.

7. Put up in neat, clean, sweet attractive packages.

8. Most scrupulous cleanliness from the cow pasture to the butter box.

A movement which has been in contemplation for some six or eight months to build a magnificent open house in Paducah, has finally reached maturity, says the Register. A stock company has been formed and capitalized at $50,000, with the largest part of the stock subscribed for. The company has in it eight or ten of the best known business men in the city, one of whom alone has subscribed for ten thousand dollars worth of stock. The lot next to the Palmer House on Fifth street has been purchased during the past few days and ground will be broke shortly.

Mr. James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Michigan, was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. The Chamberlain Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very grateful for it." For sale by J. H. Orme, druggist.

To cure sick headaches is either possible or it is impossible. If it is impossible forget it; if it is not impossible, try for it. First and foremost, try Raymond's Tonic Liver Pills and Pellets. They are a new combination but the greatest specific cure of all forms of sick and bilious headaches, disordered liver, sour stomach, etc. They are much better than any common liver pill. Together they cost but 25c at your drug store; sample dose free.

If it required an outlay of $100.00 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of bowel complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; and they could not afford to risk their lives and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for twenty five cents, that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint, before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will destroy any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by J. H. Orme, druggist.

Dr. J. C. Thomson, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. It is not for distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children and use Castoria instead of the various quick nostrums which are destroying their lives, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other harmful agents down their throats, thereby leading them to premature graves."
